Reconstruction Cabaret Will Herald New Year

Time—New Year's Eve.
Place—Hotel Gayoso.
Occasion—The Reconstruction Cabaret.
Master of Ceremonies—Father time—and the Woman's Committee, National Council of Defense.

After four years of blood and iron, of battle and death, the New Year will usher in the greatest period of rehabilitation the world has ever known—just as with the dying of 1918 will pass the worst period of destruction the universe has ever witnessed.

The Reconstruction Cabaret, which will be given New Year's eve at the Hotel Gayoso, under the direction of the local woman's committee, National Council of Defense, will be an event which will be worthy of the era of reconstruction which it will herald. Its purpose alone is enough to assure its success, for it will be given to raise funds to provide training for nurses who will assist in the rehabilitation work, both overseas and in America.

A Bit of Bohemia.

The ballroom and dining room of the Gayoso will be transformed into Bohemia, and all who enter there on New Year's eve will be swept away to that land of laughter and song.

Guests will be seated, lovely girls in and out among the tables where the guests will be seated, lovely girls in the costumes of the goddesses of wine, will carry wine, wait and wait. Their costumes will be of the delicate pastel shades, and Omar, who would be tempted to write another book of verse, if he could see them.

The goddesses of wine will be Marjette Duncomb, Anne LeMaster, Blanche Busby, Jewett Swift, Louise Anne Roberts, Mildred Johnson, Margaret Carroll, Margaret Sturdivant, Virginia Falls, Eleanor Mitchell, Frances Bryan, Barbara Smith, Charlotte Craft, Ellen Craft, Lucy Dillard.

Camouflage.

There is something about a big stick of peppermint candy which one simply can't resist—from childhood days, to old age, it never ceases to charm.

Miss Fleecy Mae Phillips, dressed in a costume of red and white striped bath, will look so very much like the stick candy which she will sell that the charm of the peppermint candy will be doubled, and none will be able to resist it.

There is something almost human in the holds so much in gifts and happiness—and the one who will carry toys of all descriptions at the cabaret, will be Adele Orgill.

Virginia Johnson, dressed to represent a cigarette, and selling cigars and cigarettes, will prove that Rudyard Kipling made a mistake when he said, "A woman is only a woman. But a good cigar is a smoke."

Clara Duncomb will be dressed as a nutcracker, and will sell beautiful little nutcracker bouquets and bouquets.

Two adorable fluffy "poodle puffs," Irene Bond and Elizabeth Armstrong, will sell dainty little vanity boxes and lotions.

No New Year's celebration would be perfect without firecrackers and balloons, and Margaret Boyle as a firecracker, and Edna Arrington as a balloon girl, will see that they are not lacking.

Virginia Meacham, as a Liberty bell, will sell bells, whistles, and other toys which will be welcome the coming of 1920.

Cabaret Features.

The cabaret performance will be opened with a "Sub-Deb Dance," by three of the most popular "sub-debs" of the season, Eleanor Carter, Elizabeth Hill and Evelyn Ralner.

The second number will be a solo by Mrs. Ralph Jurden, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Francis Andrews.

The Dance of the Snow Babies, which will be unique in both the dancing and the costumes, will be the third feature. Those who will take part in this dance are, Laura Goodbar, Annie Miles, Mildred DeLoach, Katherine Hayes, Frances Mallory and Edith Wright.

Fourth will be a feature dance by George Garvey and Elizabeth Hill, which will be one of the events of the cabaret.

The fifth feature, which will come shortly before midnight, will be the beautiful classic ballet, which has been especially trained by Miss Florence Riley, for the occasion. Those taking part in this are, Lily Mae Crawford, Lynn Black, Ruth Goodman, Annie Morton Stout, Alice Wells, Dorothy Freidell.

The originality of the cabaret, and every feature in it, is due to the efforts of Mrs. Homer K. Jones, who has been assisted by Mrs. Bright Goodbar, and other members of the woman's committee.

Much has been accomplished by the local woman's committee during the brilliant season for two years have been planned by the women of Memphis.

New Year's luncheon at the club, Monday, Dec. 28.

The favors for the occasion will be flowers and dainty little hand-painted cards containing a poem on "Hospitality."

The hospitality committee held a meeting last night at the home of Mrs. Carter recently, and made a beautiful silk flag, which it has presented to the Nineteenth Century club.

A number of unique features are being planned for the New Year's luncheon, which will make it an interesting event of the club.

Young Judeans to Meet.

A full attendance of the members of the Young Judeans is urgently requested at the meeting Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sam Newman, 1022 Peach street. This will be the last chance for the organization to meet before their play and Thanksgiving day, the Nineteenth Century club, Dec. 29.

Miss Florence H. King, of Jackson, Tenn., who has been teaching school in Oklahoma, was in Memphis Friday, the guest of friends. She will spend Christmas with her relatives in Jackson.

Mrs. E. W. Stone, of Shawnee, Okla., will arrive Sunday to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Morris.

MISTRIAL IS DECLARED IN ARTELL'S HEARING

A mistrial was declared late Friday in Second criminal court in the case of P. Artell, former city jailer, charged with violating the liquor law.

A 17-year-old boy who declared on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day he bought a half pint of whiskey from Artell in a rooming on North Main street, known as "Turkey's place," was the chief witness. The boy said he was sent by the police to procure the whiskey.

Artell stated on the witness stand that he had been suspended in August by Mayor Cantelero, but a man was found on his beat with whiskey in his possession and the arrest was made by another officer. He said he was afterward reinstated, but resigned later.

Two men charged with violating the liquor law were dismissed by Judge Richards of the First criminal court, because former Patrolman Northcott was the chief witness. Northcott is himself under indictment for a similar offense.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO SCHOOL TEACHER

Funeral services on Miss Margaret M. Silk, a primary teacher at Landerdale school, who died of pneumonia at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, were held Saturday morning at St. Patrick's church. Burial was made in Calvary cemetery.

Miss Silk is a descendant of a prominent Southern family, and her father, the late J. B. Silk, was a well-known local contractor. Miss Silk has been a Memphis teacher for 15 years. She contracted influenza several years ago, but eagerness to resume her duties among her children caused a relapse.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Silk, and the following brothers and sisters: John J. Mayo and George and Robert Silk and Annie May and Neil Silk, and Mrs. R. M. McKenzie.
